TO WHOMSOEVER IT MAY CONCERN

I'm very pleased to provide this letter of recommendation for Aakash Jhawar who is working as an Intern with IDfy effective 18th May 2018. I thoroughly enjoyed my time working with Aakash, and came to know him as a truly valuable asset to absolutely any team. He was quick to complete tasks and excelled at pretty much everything that was thrown at him. Aakash has always exhibited all the qualities that are necessary in every employee in today's highly competitive marketplace.

He primarily worked on Addressify (an application used for address verification tasks at IDfy) and Comms (email communication system of IDfy) as a full stack developer. I must especially highlight his qualities of speed and accuracy and his ability to work under high pressure or in demanding circumstances. In a very short span of time, he was able to work independently without any close supervision and was always known to follow directions thoroughly and accurately. He was very proficient at learning new languages like Ruby and Elixir. He also adopted multitasking and was working on numerous projects and assignments simultaneously.

Aakash always displayed an upbeat, energetic and an optimistic attitude that made him fun to be around with. I am highly impressed with this organized and talented young man. Hence, I give my strongest recommendation for any role that needs planning, communication, and intelligence.

Yours Sincerely,

Kaushik Shah
